Brief Report

The Notebook Making program, organized by Bhoomithrasena volunteers, aimed to promote sustainability and creativity while providing a meaningful farewell gift to final-year students. Students were involved in the process of making eco-friendly notebooks using recycled paper, and with the help of a printing press, cover pages featuring the BMC logo and the college photo were added. These personalized notebooks were distributed to the final-year students on their farewell day as a token of love and appreciation from the college.

Through this initiative, the program not only contributed to reducing paper waste and promoting environmental responsibility but also created a lasting memory for the graduating batch. It served as a reminder of the college's commitment to sustainability and the spirit of unity among students. The program successfully encouraged creativity, community involvement, and awareness of eco-friendly practices, while also leaving the students with a cherished, practical souvenir from their time at the college.
